Constitution of the Urban Studies and Planning Club at UCSD
September 18, 2011

Name: Urban Studies and Planning Club

Purpose: The Urban Studies and Planning Club is a student organization formed to provide a support network for UCSD students involved in the Urban Studies and Planning program. The club will provide opportunities for students to become more involved through community service, knowledge enhancement, and academic support. Additionally, the Urban Studies and Planning Club intends to serve as an access point and bridge for UCSD planning students to the professional planning community in and around the San Diego region. The Urban Studies and Planning Club is not a for-profit organization and does not plan on pursuing any for-profit activities.

Requirements for Membership: Membership in the Urban Studies and Planning Club at UCSD is contingent upon the potential club member's status as an enrolled student at UCSD. Club members must be current students at UCSD.

Club Meetings: The Urban Studies and Planning Club will meet weekly to discuss upcoming events and plan potential future activities.

Qualifications for Holdings Office: Members of the Urban Studies and Planning Club that wish to hold a leadership position in the club must be actively involved in club meetings and in club activities. If an officer position becomes vacant the position may be filled by a consensus among club members (not just officers) as to who should fill the vacancy. If a consensus cannot be reached among club members, an anonymous vote will take place to determine the candidate to fill the vacancy.
